

Peter Tensmeyer

Mr. Tensmeyer has been a project manager for nuclear security and nonproliferation programs for 6 years. He is currently the federal Sr. Project Manager and Deputy Director for the Office of North and South American Threat Reduction, one of three regional offices within GTRI, which is aimed at reducing and protecting vulnerable nuclear and radiological materials located at civilian sites worldwide.

His prior assignments include:

Lead Project Controls Expert, NNSA's Megaports and Second Line of Defense Core Programs * Project Director, GTRI's Program Management Information System Development Project * Project Manager, GTRI's Nuclear and Radiological Protection Portfolio